

Do photovoltaic panels need an agent

Overview

Most states require a licensed electrical or plumbing contractor for PV and solar-thermal systems, respectively. The North American Board of Certified Energy Practitioners (NABCEP) is a nationally-recognized, independent, voluntary certification program for photovoltaic (PV) and solar-heating system installers, that can be earned to demonstrate specific skills or knowledge. But once you understand how the math works, you unlock the tools to shape your income ceiling. This guide breaks down everything you need to know about solar sales. To become an effective agent for photovoltaic solar energy, individuals should focus on several core elements: 1. Building a robust network within the industry, 3. Solar installation certifications or licenses demonstrate that you possess the necessary knowledge and experience to work. With the tremendous growth of solar installations and the continuing evolution of licensing requirements for photovoltaic and solar installers, IREC's National Solar Licensing Database provides information and references to the licensing, certification, and other requirements impacting the solar.
