Key hydropower developments are underway: the Kinguélé Aval station (35 MW), slated for Q4 2025, and the Ngoulmendjim facility (82 MW), targeting operational status by 2028. These run-of-river projects promise clean, firm power while scaling back reliance on fossil-fuel thermal. From solar-hybrid systems to portable generators, discover technologies reshaping off-grid operations in mining, ecotourism, and rural electrification projects. In 2020, the SEEG launched its emergency water and electricity plan to rehabilitate its 5 mw Bongolo hydropower plant with the aim. President Oligui Nguema is pursuing energy independence with new power deals, but the struggling state utility SEEG poses major hurdles. The country aims to shift toward a low-carbon and diversified energy system, aligning with global climate goals. For years, Gabon has relied mainly on hydropower and natural gas.
