Overview

On 12 August 2025, Mauritania's Minister of Energy and Petroleum, Mohamed Khaled, announced a strategic renewable energy project with a total investment of $287 million, aimed at expanding the country's clean energy capacity. Bluesun has successfully completed a large-scale on-grid solar system in Mauritania, featuring 806 kWp + 125 kW₆ capacity. This installation is more than just a solar project—it is a driving force for sustainable development in the region. A 5 million financing package from the African Development Bank and the Green Climate Fund will support two major projects that aim to develop solar power generation, transnational electricity interconnection and rural electrification in the country. Mauritania is set to become a regional. Mauritania, a country with a land area of over one million square kilometers, is blessed with an abundance of sunlight. The project includes a 160 MW photovoltaic solar plant in Nouakchott, a. The broader strategy is to achieve universal electricity access by 2030, with an emphasis on renewable energy, driven by solar.
