Panama formally inaugurated the Santiago Solar Park, a $70 million investment by the Naiad Renovables Group with a capacity to produce 86,333 megawatts peak (MWP), providing a new boost to renewable energy in this country, where the photovoltaic and wind energy segments accounted for 12.9% of total. Panama built 143.4 MW of new solar in 2024, bringing its total installed PV capacity to 695. Located in Coclé, the project marks a significant advancement in Panama's renewable energy landscape, featuring a vast array of solar panels with an electricity generation capacity of 105. The country has reached 170 megawatts (MW) of installed capacity in self-consumption systems and surpassed 6,000 active users, marking a 42% growth in 2025 alone, according to the National Public Services Authority (ASEP). The Electric Generation Company (EGESA) has received approval from its Board of Directors for the construction of a new 5 Megawatt (MW) solar plant, a key step in the progress towards a more sustainable energy model for Panama.
